

Making A DIFFERENCE

Chrysalis teachers make a difference in the lives of their students. I started Chrysalis because I wanted teachers for my children who cared more about my children than they did about their subjects--teachers who loved their subjects and wanted to share them. This happens at Chrysalis year round.

Students say:

"I loved coming to class and learning new things."

"It wasn't about getting a 4.0. It was about mastering the material. I loved that."

"Chrysalis truly fits its name, offering a place where kids learn and grow as people, not just students."

"I get to ask all of the questions I want, and the teacher focuses on me."

"Knowing how great Chrysalis was I should have transferred here a lot sooner."

"Traditional school structure is like a ladder progressing to lofty heights. In contrast Chrysalis' structure was more like climbing a tree, at times more complex but also more fun."

Chrysalis teachers have a mentoring relationship with their students. One on one, the teachers are able to create a unique learning environment where students are able to gain confidence as they gain skills.

At Chrysalis -- we nurture your child's wellbeing.

CHRYSALIS GOALS

- To guide students in the learning process, which is a lifelong, personal process
- To create a learning environment based on mutual trust, respect, and personal integrity
- To help students address their strengths, their weaknesses, and how they best learn
- To encourage students to pursue their interests and "learn how to learn" about what is important to them

"I have known Karen for several years both in my capacity as the Administrator for Private Education for the Superintendent of Public Instruction and as Executive Director/Consultant for the WFIS. I have found her to be capable, committed, and well informed about the needs of parents and children educationally."

- Carl T. Fynboe
Former Executive Director, Washington Federation of Independent Schools

MISSION

Our mission is to provide a course of study that meets the needs of individual students based on their needs, interests, and abilities. As a result, students will be successful, confident, lifelong learners.

Special FEATURES

Chrysalis offers an individualized course of study for students from elementary school through high school.

Assignments are developed for each student based on his or her needs and interests.

Some subjects are taught one on one. Some subjects are offered in a small-group setting, especially for college preparatory students.

Even though traditional scheduling, placement, curriculum, and even classrooms have been changed, many traditions remain including homework, grades, report cards, a prom, and a high school graduation ceremony.

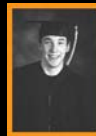

Your child's experience will be highly personal and focused.

COLLEGE &

ACCREDITATION

We encourage all of our students to attend a university, community college, or technical/vocational school after graduation. Our students have continued their education at such schools as the University of Washington, Yale, Cal State Berkley, Chapman, Whitman, The Joffrey Ballet, Julliard, Seattle Pacific University, Amherst, Duke, Brooks Institute, The Art Institute of Seattle, and many local and out-of-state community colleges.

We can assure you that the students in our preparatory program, which begins in middle school, leave our school well prepared for a four-year college or university.

Chrysalis School is accredited by the Northwest Association of Schools and of Colleges and Universities and has been approved by the Washington State Board of Education since 1983. All teachers hold current Washington State teacher certifications.

STUDENTS

What kind of student is successful here?

Ever wonder where that young Olympic athlete must go to school or how that baby-faced actor gets an education? They attend school at Chrysalis!

What about your budding artist, musician, equestrian, dancer, snowboarder, car mechanic or computer tech? Chrysalis gives your children time to pursue the things they are interested in.

What about the student who needs more attention than a large group will allow, or the student who is experiencing or recovering from a painful life event? They too will benefit from the nurturing environment and flexibility Chrysalis offers.

Chrysalis has the flexibility in scheduling to allow the school to fit around the needs of the family rather than the student having to fit into the schedule of the school.

Parents and students have an opportunity to spend time together and share their interests with each other. Most parents comment that they wish they had found us sooner.
